A GREAT COUNTRY.

Interesting Description of New Mexico by a Former Stanford Man.

(All rights reserved by the author.)

SAN MARCIAL, NEW MEXICO, July 2.—Many days have dawned and nights have dimmed the earth with shadows since I wrote a line for the I. J., and many letters come to me for something descriptive of New Mexico. Some have been replied to and others consigned to "a more convenient season."

First, let me say that agriculture here, save a very limited area that can be irrigated from the very few running streams, is out of the question and exists chiefly on paper and in the well-filled garrets of human anatomy, whose possessors prey upon the government's liberality for appropriations and upon enthusiastic minds through irrigation schemes to dispose of worthless, barren wastes. There are some privations and self-denials to be encountered and necessarily endured here; but nature in her inherent sense of justice and equity has provided some—aye, many very great compensations to off-set the advantages crowning other lands. The distribution, when calmly viewed, is perhaps in favor of this vast region known as New Mexico, which might more fitly be called "America." I am but returned from a protracted stay in the East and never before have I been so thoroughly impressed with the greatness, both present and future, of this country. For rest, real rest of mind and body, this is the one place in America where it is to be found unalloyed; for quiet repose and life gathering force, to store away like great storage batteries for future demand on brain and endurance, there is not a place on this globe the equal of New Mexico. Here, nature is both nurse and physician. A land where doctors starve and patients thrive; where ignorance is king and freedom his kingdom; where quiet reigns and rain is a luxury, where congeniality is unknown and extremes are cronies, where hardships are trifles and consequences are jokes, where people are severed and communities united, where gold is a medium and not the object, where idleness is popular and industry is self-indulgence, where wealth is common and poverty general, where accumulation is easy and ostentation contemptable, where caste is unregarded and circles unfilled. But this region with inviting welcome to the world and all its treasures open to seeking visitors, stands like the lonely (?) Solomon, to be visited and its glories enjoyed, but moves not its wealth or clime to wistful royalty or craving plebian. The grasses wild, luxuriant, nutritious, its scenery grand, even sublime, its mineral store, are peculiarly its own and can not be moved by trust, combine or political endeavor to another section of the world. It is New Mexico's only. Just back from a trip across the plains to San Mateo (Saint Matthew) Mountains; the drive up there a gradual ascent of about 3,000 feet above this shady city on the Rio Grande; breezes fresh, invigorating and delightful. On the way, looking northward, one sees the "Floating Mountain," one of the most wonderful mirages of this land of mirages. It is a great mountain seemingly suspended between heaven and earth; can see under it, far on northward, the blue sky and all around it the outlines sharply defined, the clear, beautiful sky of this "Land of Blue Skies." Looking northwestward, the great Bald Mountain, high above the timber line, lifts its rugged summits if conscious of mountain supremacy, and like a great giant sentinel, towers above the typical Western mining town of Magdalena. While, east, on its very foot, and upward upon its slope and craggy side, is the bustling mining village of Kelley, alive with busy western energy and startled at regular hours with the roar of dynamite, shooting from their imbedded veins the rich ores of copper, lead and gold. Then to be seen on this drive of 30 miles, away to the south, some 40 miles, the Palomas Mountain, whose outlines against the distant sky bear a most striking resemblance to the profile of Grover Cleveland, the Benedict Arnold of the democratic party. It stands overshadowing the Palomas Hot Springs (on government reservation) where rheumatism and kindred ailments are absolutely eradicated in one to five days' plunging in its hot mud and water. A great resort for sufferers from far and near, without accommodations or improvements of any character; all visitors taking their own supplies of tents, provisions and blankets (the latter always needed in this clime at night. Oh, that the vast army of rheumatics of earth had access to these baths.

And then in every direction still may be seen the Oscuro, the San Andres, the Magdalena, the White Mountains (latter covered with snow nine months out of the year,) the Caballo (Spanish for horse; pronounced Ca-va-yo) and other ranges of mountains stretching their lines high up on the beautiful blue heavens. Up among the mountains at infrequent intervals, gush springs of water, cold and clear and 99 per cent. pure. Look again away to the east on this same 30 mile drive and see the distant range, 140 miles away, that hides behind it the ruins of Grand Cevera, a town whose history and the very account of its destruction is lost to all the divines in archives and legends. Many houses yet stand, as testimony that the populace lived in fear of some powerful enemy, as all were built with parapets and all entrances from the tops by means of ladders, drawn up after ascent and used for descent to the floors. That the unknown people of this village were surprised and killed is well evidenced by the fact that in exploring, their skeletons were found in groups, with skulls broken, limbs broken, men, women and children all treated alike, while in some few houses, as if clustered together for more available resistance, the skeletons of men were found with the same evidence of violence upon them. Much search and speculation as to who these people were, and by what people surprised and killed, has not brought one single proof to light; nothing but the unsatisfying surmise is extant. Again on this drive, draw down the gaze nearer and see a great, open volcanic crater with a broad stretch of lava boulders spread some seven to 10 miles wide and about 20 miles long, a black, rugged rendezvous for bats, serpents, centipedes and tarantulas. The Mexican name for this volcanic deposit is "Mal Pais."

Driving on, we come to the San Mateo Range, about 60 miles in length and rich in mineral, almost altogether free milling gold with a small percentage of silver admixture. The veins of ore are all true fissure veins, solid, well defined and of such thickness as to not necessitate the handling of any waste or "country rock." Here in the foot hills of this range is the mining village of Rosedale, nestled in a beautiful and picturesque valley at an elevation of about 7,500 feet above the sea level, with mountains reaching 800 to 1,000 feet above the valley where the camp is located. Climb these mountains up past the stormy peaks that are shut up and out from their sides, on and up beyond the clouds, look down upon the cloud's tops all purple and gold from the sunlight above the mountain summits, while the clouds are spraying and drenching the purple and yellow carpet of wild flowers on the hill sides and valleys below. The clouds hurriedly drift on and one has a view painted upon memory's faithful tablet that time, viscidities and changes can not erase. Take these scenes with that of the Floating Mountains and the thousands of sheep pastured upon the plains and seen again from mountain summit in great separate herds stretching out in straight and curved lines, grazing on wild grasses and wild flowers, all under you and far below you, moving steadily onward and onward like some vast army deployed for battle, marching with force in front and strong reserve corps in the rear upon the waiting lines of a great foe. Get the rich perfume of the wild flowers spiced with the odors of spruce and pine, thrown out in grateful recompense for the refreshing shower. Look well and long at the scene, every minute, every hour it is more interesting, more captivating until it becomes enchanting. No artist can paint the picture, no canvas, no plate of kodak or camera can reproduce it, no pen can describe it, no one can comprehend all its beauty and grandeur. It is God mocking with nature, the attempts of artists at the sublime. I have sometimes wondered if after all, the very Garden of Eden was not hidden away among these mountain ranges. But if so, Adam, "manlike," in his selfish greed, must have eaten the apple seeds with the fruit, for no wild apples or anything of so domestic a semblance is found here. Though now and then an apron may be seen, but whether of the pattern and style of fickle Eve's, I can not say, but am positively persuaded, not of the same fabric, nor put together by the same contrivance. The style and fabric of hers seem to have been long since discarded though in some modern, fashionable circles the necessity for aprons of greater dimensions is nearly as great as it was when she established the first apron factory. The people here are from everywhere, except the native race, whose lines of kinship are lost in the labyrinths of intermarriages for centuries. The girls are married at the age of 12 to 16; are aged at 25, are quick, bright and vivacious in their teens and discontented at 20. Some intermarry with Indians, a few with Negroes. Their annual feasts are to them great carnivals of alternating worship, dancing, gambling and other pastimes and pleasures. Naturally, they shrink from advancements as innovations upon their rights and customs, shrink from all Americanisms, though marriage with Americans is not unusual, but generally confined to male Americans with female natives. American girls who come out here as help are generally quickly married to ranchmen and other Americans engaged in other vocations.

Yours, L. M. LASLEY.

Bowel Complaint in Children.

During the summer months children are subject to disorders of the bowels which should receive careful attention as soon as the first unnatural looseness of the bowels appears. The best medicine in use for bowel complaint is Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as it promptly controls any unnatural looseness of the bowels. For sale by Stanford Drug Co.

Bobbie—Pa, is it really true when you lick me it hurts you more'n it does me?

Father—Yes, Robert.

Bobbie—Then here's where you get hurt. I threw the cat down the well, an' ma's goin' to tell you on me.—Leslie's Weekly.

Twenty Year Battle.

"I was a loser in a 20 year battle with chronic piles and malignant sores, until I tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve; which turned the tide, by curing both, till not a trace remains," writes A. M. Bruce, of Farmville, Va. Best for old Ulcers, Cuts, Burns and Wounds. 25¢ at Penny's Drug Store, Stanford, Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard.

HUSTONVILLE.

Mr. George S. McKinney was severely injured last week by a vicious bull.

Mr. Will Cabell, wife and children, of Lebanon, are visiting Mrs. Cabell's mother and sisters here.

Parties desiring the most beautiful situation for a home in our city should not fail to attend the sale of the old school building and grounds next Saturday at 2 P. M.

The brick work on the new bank will be completed this week, barring strike and providential hindrance, and when completed will be the handsomest structure on Main Street.

The six thoroughbred colts of T. L. Carpenter sold last week at Sheephead Bay brought their fortunate owner the handsome sum of $5,250, the colt by Alan-a-Dale heading the list of the day's sales at $2,300.

Mary, the pretty and accomplished little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Stagg, gave her friends a most delightful party on the evening of the 7th, in honor of Misses Louise Oldson, of Roanoke, Ala., Carrie Edwards, of Los Angeles, and Elizabeth Cabell, of Lebanon.

Miss Mary, the beloved daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Routen, who has been ill for some months, passed into the great beyond on the 5th and was buried here on the 7th in the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends. She was a devout member of the Christian church and her life was a bright page in the Master's cause.

Miss Catherine Alcorn has returned from a four weeks' stay in Chicago, where she was the guest of her sister, Miss Mattie, who returned with her. Carlisle Alcorn arrived home Sunday from Oakdale, where he is engaged with the C. S. engineers on double track work. Miss Lucy Alcorn, of New York, will arrive this week to attend the annual family reunion and spend her vacation.

A veritable water spout on Friday afternoon did great damage along Carpenter's Creek, three to four miles west of here. Bridges, fences, live stock, vehicles, homes and crops were victims of the madly rushing waters that receded almost as rapidly as they came. The home of Henry McKinney was flooded, greatly damaging his new furniture on the first floor, which was left covered with mud several inches deep, while Mr. McKinney and wife took refuge in the second story.

Misses Georgia and Prille Newbern are at home from Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Goode are with relatives in Lexington. Mrs. C. P. Brown has gone to Lebanon to visit. Miss Pratt Hadden, of Georgetown, is with the Misses Cunningham. George W. Wash, formerly a prosperous merchant of our city, speaks in the loudest praise of the spirit of progress evidenced in our city since he left. After leaving here 16 years since, he graduated in medicine and is now the leading physician in his Kansas home.

Only 82 Years Old.

"I am only 82 years old and don't expect even when I get to be real old to feel that way as long as I can get Electric Bitters," says Mrs. E. H. Brunson, of Dublin, Ga. Surely there's nothing else keeps the old as young and makes the weak as strong as this grand tonic medicine. Dyspepsia, torpid liver, inflamed kidneys or chronic constipation are unknown after taking Electric Bitters a reasonable time. Guaranteed by Penny's Drug Store, Stanford, Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard. Price 50¢.

"This wine," said Mr. Bluffer proudly, "has been in my cellar for 30 years. Mr. Kauler, who is something of a connoisseur, sipped his portion critically. "I don't wonder," he murmured.

Cleveland Leader.

Don't Be Backward. Do not hesitate to ask for a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. We are glad to give them to anyone who is troubled with biliousness, constipation, or any disorder of the stomach. Many have been permanently cured by their use. Stanford Drug Co.

They lynched a Negro in far-away Idaho Territory for the same unmentionable crime that would have brought about death in Mississippi. However, nature is about the same, North, South, East and West.—Knoxville Sentinel.

Stimulation Without Irritation

That is the watchword. That is what Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup does. Cleanses and stimulates the bowels without irritation in any form. Penny's Drug Store.

The two heroes of the hour, Hays and Hoffman, ought to form a partnership and continue their reform practices together to save rent.—Somerset Journal.

JUDGE JOHN W. HUGHES.

of Mercer county, is a candidate to represent the Eighth Congressional district of Kentucky in Congress, to succeed Hon. G. G. Gilbert, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

M. F. NORTH

Is a candidate for Representative of Lincoln county, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

The immense amount spent in advertising is shown in a recent bulletin of the United States census bureau. During 1905, $145,531,811 was invested in advertising in this country. That there is an intimate connection between these figures and the phenomenal prosperity of the nation, no sane man will deny. Every day last year 19,624,757 copies of daily newspapers brought into touch those who sell and those who buy—one copy for every family in the country. It is safe to assume, in view of the thoroughness with which the newspapers cover the continent from the Gulf to the Lakes, that there was less waste in the expenditure of that $145,531,811 than in the purchase of any other of the multiple forms of publicity that keep the wheels of Uncle Sam's industries turning.

At a meeting of the democratic county chairmen of this congressional district at Nicholasville Friday afternoon it was decided that a primary be held Sept. 1 to nominate a candidate for Congress. The entrance fee was fixed at $750 and no announcement can be made later than Aug. 17. Fitting resolutions on the death of State Central Committeeman Richard W. Miller were passed but no successor to that gentleman was elected. Mr. John Sam Owsley, Jr., of this place, was given a complimentary vote for committeeman. E. B. Hoover, of Jessamine, J. A. Sullivan, of Madison, and Wilkes Morgan, of Anderson, were also voted for the place.

At York, Pennsylvania, the citizens have notified the railroads that no Negro excursionists shall be unloaded in that city, making dire threats both against the roads and against the Negroes if they are. Let it be remembered that this "outrageous" demand is made by people who are supposed to love the Negro like a brother. Here in the South the whites let the poor Negro "excuse" all he wants to.

YOUR Cousin Carrie Nation is up against the real thing now. A warrant is out for her for using the mails to disseminate obscene matter. A recent issue of "The Hatchet" contained a lecture to young men and boys in which Mrs. Nation used very plain language. The old lady may smash windows and laws generally, but when she runs up against Uncle Sam there is sure to be something doing.

COL. LUMPKIN, finding that he was up against the real thing, more real since his strong fight for the rate bill, has withdrawn from the race for United States Senator against Senator Tillman. The Colonel seems to be a man of sufficient animosity to fill a seat in the Senate some of these days.

NEXT to the wife-beater comes the horse-beater, and it is to be regretted that we have one or two in this community, says the Harrodsburg Herald, but we can not add our amen. Strikes us the next meanest man to a wife-beater is a "dead-beater."

ATTORNEY GENERAL HAYS addressed a handful of democrats at Flemingsburg Saturday. Mr. Hays thinks he is in the race for governor, but the impression prevails that he is badly mistaken.

POLITICAL.

New York Democrats are booming Charles A. Towne for second place on the ticket with Bryan.

Richard Croker announced in Dublin that he is for Bryan for President and not for Roosevelt, as reported.

Friends of John D. White say that he will shortly announce his candidacy for Congress in the Eleventh district.

E. B. Hoover, of Nicholasville, announced that he will not seek the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Eighth district.

Col. W. W. Lumpkin has withdrawn from the race for United States from South Carolina. This leaves the field clear for Senator Tillman's re-election.

The Louisiana House of Representatives adopted a resolution recommending the endorsement of William J. Bryan by the Democratic party of that State.

Representative Charles A. Towne, after a Western trip, stated that Bryan's hold on the people has grown wonderfully, and that there is a general demand for his nomination.

W. J. Bryan has written to former Senator James K. Jones that he is satisfied with private life and does not care to run for the presidency in 1908 unless the conditions seem to require it.

President Roosevelt, through Secretary Loeb, declined the invitation to preside at the Bryan anti-trust meeting in New York, announcing that he will make no engagements during his summer rest.

A public reception was given Senator Dolliver by the people of Fort Dodge, Ia., in recognition of his work on the Railway Rate Bill. President Roosevelt contributed a complimentary expression.

The socialists party of Colorado held a convention at Denver and nominated a full State ticket, headed by William D. Haywood, secretary and treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners, now in prison in Idaho, for Governor.

Hon. James D. Black, of Barbourville, was in the city yesterday on legal business. Mr. Black is a Democrat in a section that it costs something to be, and he has never failed to advocate the principles of his party whenever occasion required. Though his legislative district is densely Republican, he was elected to the Legislature a number of years ago, that being the only office he ever held. He was a candidate for Governor two years ago but withdrew in the interest of harmony. Friends are urging him now to announce for Attorney General, but he has not made up his mind fully on the subject. He is a splendid lawyer and would make an admirable legal representative of the proud old State.—Frankfort Journal.

IN NEIGHBORING COUNTIES.

E. N. Kimberlin, aged 24, is dead in Washington County of typhoid fever.

Willie Merritt was killed by an overturning wagon while logging in Casey.

William Walker, aged 73, is dead in the Sulphur Well section of Jessamine.

John J. McGee, one of the best-known young farmers of Mercer county, is dead.

Columbus Garrison was acquitted of the killing of Constable Wm. Bolton by a Pulaski county jury.

Miss Florence Jones, daughter of C. C. Jones, of the Yosemite section, died after a long illness of consumption.

Whitley county will vote on the whisky question Oct. 6. A strong effort will be made to vote the saloons out of Corbin and Jellico.

Frank Ball, who escaped from the Richmond jail, has been located on the top of Kings Mountain, near the Madison and Estill line.

Liberty is now an incorporated town, the county judge having recently appointed officers to put the incorporation into effect: A. P. Young, police judge; E. H. Kidd, H. W. Phillips, H. W. Rains, J. R. Whipp and Jas. Cowden, town trustees.—News.

Sam Parker, a young attorney and college athlete, was shot and fatally wounded by Judge J. E. Fulton, at Hohenwald, Tenn. Physicians from Somerset, who came on a special train, did everything possible to save his life, but without avail. Just before his death young Parker stated that Fulton had shot him without provocation.

MATRIMONIAL.

There were 3,100 weddings in Chicago in June.

William Jones, aged 24, and Miss Bertha Alcorn, 15, were married at Nicholasville.

George C. Gifford, of Casey, and Miss Roxie Eastham, of Pulaski, were married at Somerset.

Miss Olivia S. Sweeney and Prof. Howard A. Hoeming, of Lexington, were married in Louisville. The bride formerly lived in Lancaster and is a daughter of the late C. W. Sweeney.

A Tragic Finish.

A watchman's neglect permitted a leak in the great North Sea dyke, which a child's finger could have stopped, to become a ruinous break, devastating an entire province of Holland. In like manner Kenneth McIver, of Vanceboro, Me., permitted a little cold to go unnoticed until a tragic finish was only averted by Dr. King's New Discovery. He writes: "Three doctors gave me up to die of lung inflammation, caused by a neglected cold; but Dr. King's New Discovery saved my life." Guaranteed best cough and cold cure, at Penny's Drug Store, Stanford, Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

If you want to rid yourself of that "tired feeling," try White's Concentrated Crab Orchard Water. It will do the work. For sale by W. B. McRoberts, G. L. Penny, W. N. Craig, Stanford, and C. W. Adams, J. G. Weatherford & Co., Hustonville J. W. Thompson, Kingsville.

Lyman J. Gage, rich Chicago banker and ex-Secretary of the Treasury, has cast his lot with the mysterious Theosophical Brotherhood of Southern California and will go there to live according to their customs, says a dispatch to the Chicago Record-Herald.

Quick relief for Asthma Sufferers.

Foley's Honey and Tar affords immediate relief to asthma sufferers in the worst stages and if taken in time will effect a cure. Penny's Drug Store.

Arctie, selling at 100 to one, won at Sheephead Bay yesterday. Ram's Horn captured the Ridge Handicap.

LADIES will be admitted to the Lincoln County Fair at Stanford July 12, 13, 14, free on the first day.

The blackberry season is on earnest.

CHURCH MATTERS.

Miss Lucy Mahan, of London, is in recognition of his work on the Railway Rate Bill. President Roosevelt contributed a complimentary expression.

Dr. E. M. Greene, of Danville, will preach at the Christian church Sunday night. Union services will be held with that church.

A successful revival conducted at the Baptist church in Monticello by Rev. A. H. Wright, of Nashville, closed last week with 15 conversions.

A protracted meeting will begin at Berea on July 24. Rev. J. Q. Montgomery, of Liberty, will assist the pastor, Rev. Brewer, in conducting the services.

War Against Consumption.

All nations are endeavoring to check the ravage of consumption, the "white plague" that claims so many victims each year. Foley's Honey and Tar cures coughs and colds perfectly and you are in no danger of consumption. Do not risk your health by taking some unknown preparation when Foley's Honey and Tar is safe and certain in results. The genuine is in a yellow package. Penny's Drug Store.

FARM FOR SALE!

Having moved to Gilberts Creek, I desire to sell my farm of 100 acres on the Crab Orchard Pike, 2 miles from Crab Orchard. Farm is well improved, containing a good residence and outbuildings. All in grass except 8 acres. Parties wishing to look over the place can call on Mr. Beeton, who lives on the farm.
